By LARRY ALLEN

HAVANA, Cuba. (AP) — Fresh dispatches today told of the execution of 10 more men by order of revolutionary courts, boosting the reported toll to 195.

The rebel leader, Fidel Castro, said the executions will continue, regardless of world opinion about the summary justice accorded captive followers of ex-President Fulgencia Batista who are adjudged major war criminals.

"We have given orders to shoot every one of these murderers," Castro declared Wednesday night. "Some convicted prisoners are getting prison terms. A few are being freed. A tribunal at Santiago Wednesday provisionally freed five—three civilians and two military men."

Criticism mounted abroad of the hurried military trials and firing squad deaths. But the rebel chief, asked by newsmen if the executions would be stopped, replied:

"No. To the contrary, we have given orders to shoot every one of these murderers. And if we have to battle world opinion to mete out justice, we are prepared to do it."

Castro had scheduled a news conference later in the evening, but called it off with word that he was ill. The nature of his illness was not disclosed, but the strenuous life he has led during the past two weeks was probably telling on him.

Reports reaching Havana said 19 persons were put to death in Camaguey, 320 miles east of Havana, for political murders and tortures during the regime of the ousted dictator Fulgencia Batista.

Five more executions were reported from Manzanillo, in Oriente province, where eight others were shot Monday. Three former Batista soldiers were condemned to

New Director of Arkansas Highways Is Stepping Into a Mighty Big Pair of Shoes

By JOHN R. STARR

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — R. B. Winfrey is stepping into a big pair of shoes.

The 60-year-old native Arkansan became acting director of Arkansas' Highway Department today, replacing Herbert Eldridge, who resigned early this month under a political cloud.

Winfrey will have the benefit of Eldridge's advice until the latter steps down March 1. Whether he will be made permanent director then is not clear.

However, Glenn Wallace, chairman of the Highway Commission, said "it's a possibility" that the veteran of 23 years with the Highway Department will get the job.

Winfrey, as maintenance engineer, has worked closely with Eldridge for the past year and a half. He says he intends to continue on Highway Commission policy, and "I believe that policy will be kept non-political."

Eldridge has been highway director since the independent Highway Commission was established in 1953 under the Mack-Blackwell Amendment.

Figures show the department built 7,374 miles of new or resurfaced highways during that six years, compared to a total of 3,209 miles in the 13 years immediately preceding the Mack-Blackwell amendment.

And the department's program for the immediate future is even more ambitious.

The 1959 program calls for a record expenditure of 44 million dollars, more than twice the amount put into highways in 1952.

The 1958 total on contracted work, 32 million dollars, also was a record.

The Highway Commission plans to ask the 1959 General Assembly for a 7 1/2 million dollar increase in road user taxes to further speed road-building under provisions of federal aid statutes.

The present commission includes four appointees of Gov. Orval E. Faubus — Harry Parkin of Little Rock, former State Sen. Lawrence Blackwell of Pine Bluff and Crum of Wilson and Armitage.

Arkansas Buys Two Plantations

GREENVILLE, Miss. (AP) — Cecil Davis of Blytheville, Ark., has purchased two plantations in Washington County from L. C. Jones. The two are the Otterburn Plantation at Grace and Bambo Plantation near Leland.

In another transaction, Chester L. Kelms of Steele, Mo., has bought the Metcalfe Plantation near Chatham from T. R. Pittman.

Several thousand acres are involved in the transfers. No purchase figures were announced, but it was reported that price of the three tracts totaled about one million dollars.

Johnson Has Full Control of Party Organization

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson (D-Tex.) held a taut rein today on the Senate party organization.

With Johnson in full command as majority leader, Democrats parceled out their committee assignments Wednesday. Republicans are expected to have their assignments completed in time for approval by the Senate on Saturday. That would permit organization of individual committees next week.

In an agreement with Sen. Styles Bridges of New Hampshire, chairman of the GOP Policy Committee, the group gained the approval of enlarging some of the important Senate committees and reorganizing their party ratios to conform with the new lineup of 64 Democrats and 34 Republicans.

Johnson's assignment of his party members appeared to reward some of the Democratic freshmen who supported his successful effort this week to compromise the fight over the senate filibuster rule.

One of these, Sen. Robert C. Byrd of West Virginia, got two major committee places, on Appropriations and Banking, an almost unprecedented attainment for a freshman. Sens. Thomas J. Dodd of Connecticut and Gale McGee of Wyoming, who supported Johnson's compromise, also drew Appropriations Committee assignments.

The Appropriations Committee, which handles all of the money bills, was enlarged to 27 members, more than a fourth of the Senate's total of 98.

Other Democrats added to the group included Sens. Alan Bible of Nevada, Estes Kefauver of Tennessee, A. S. Mike Monroney of Oklahoma and John Stennis of Mississippi.

HD Officers Attend a Training Meet

Officers from 10 Home Demonstration Clubs attended the officer's training meeting held at the Hempstead County Courthouse on Wednesday morning.

Mrs. Ernest Graham, council president, discussed with all officers the possibility of the organization serving dinners to various organizations as a means of raising money for projects carried on by HD organization. She stressed the importance of each club having at least one member attend the State HD Council meeting to be held at the University of Arkansas at Fayetteville Aug. 11-14.

The presidents and vice presidents were given instructions on presiding by Mrs. Graham. She also discussed the other duties of their specific office.

Mrs. Lorraine B. Wylie, Home Demonstration Agent, conducted the training session for the secretaries and publicity chairmen. She stressed to the secretaries the importance of keeping accurate and complete minutes. To the publicity chairmen she pointed out the importance of getting their club reports in while it is news and the type of story to send in to the newspaper.

The following attended the officers training meeting: Mrs. Sid Skinner, Mrs. D. M. Collier, Conterville Mrs. Ralph Habert, Mrs. Oliver Rider, Mrs. Howard Buffington, Hinton Club; Mrs. Ernest Graham, Mrs. O. B. Hodnett of Hopewell; Mrs. J. L. Light, Mrs. A. B. ## Faubus Suffers Slight Setback on Police Bill

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Gov. Orval E. Faubus suffered a legislative rabbit today when the Arkansas Senate, enmeshed in a bill designed to oust a member of the Arkansas State Police Commission.

As introduced, the bill would have abolished the present seven-member commission and authorized Faubus to appoint an entirely new commission of nine members, one from each of the state police districts and the ninth at large.

The senate voted 20 to 2 to amend the measure by postponing the effective date until Jan. 1, 1960, shortly after Faubus seven year term expires. Twelve senators were absent or did not vote.

The bill still awaits final action. Two other East Arkansas senators opposed Bearden by lending the move for amendment to the bill. They are Sens. Charles F. Smith of West Memphis and Clarence Bell of Parkin, both representing the senatorial districts in which Hale lives.

It was Smith who successfully moved to amend the bill. He and Bell yesterday had blocked a customarily-routine second reading of the measure.

Smith and Bell charged the bill was aimed at Hale, and this was conceded by Bearden.

Bell was appointed to the commission by former Gov. Francis Cherry, whom Faubus defeated for a second-term nomination.

Bearden declared that Hale had taken it on himself to call out state troopers to set up road blocks and that he had been instrumental in having a certain wrecking company used to haul away vehicles involved in accidents.

Hale is a well known West Memphis lawyer. His law partner, John A. Fogleman, currently is president of the Arkansas Bar Assn.

The police reorganization bill was one of two major offerings in the Senate yesterday. The other, introduced by Sen. Robert Harvey of Swifton, was designed, the author said, to lower state income taxes of persons earning less than $10,000 a year and to raise the tax of those earning more than that amount.

Harvey said the bill was his own idea and "I have designed it to stop some of the complaints in the lower brackets."

His formula would call for a tax rate of one per cent on the first $1,000 dollars of net income; two per cent on the next $1,000; three per cent on the next $2,000; four per cent on the next $4,000; five per cent on the next $10,000, and six per cent on all income in excess of $18,000.

Harvey said the state would receive about the same rate of revenue as at present.

The day saw legislative action completed on two bills—those to pay the expenses of the House and Senate—but otherwise, activity was restricted to the introduction of a wide variety of bills, all of which were sent to committees for recommendation.

Both houses received identical bills to authorize the Arkansas Rural Endowment Fund, Inc. to use approximately $1,800,000 in federal funds for rural development in the state. The money would be transferred from the Arkansas Rural Rehabilitation Corp.

Presbyterian Homecoming February 1

A big Homecoming Day Celebration will be held at the First Presbyterian Church on Sunday, Feb. 1. Letters have gone out to all former members of the church whose addresses could be obtained.

The Homecoming Committee of Robert M. Wilson, chairman, Mrs. J. C. Broyles, Vincent Foster and Miss Bessie Green is promoting this service. The Rev. William J. Fogleman of Little Rock, Regional Director for Christian Education, will be the morning speaker. Mrs. Haskell Jones of Texarkana will assist the choir.

After a Yesper service that afternoon it is planned to have Open House and a social hour to enable old friends to meet together.

The Homecoming Celebration has been planned to celebrate five years that the Presbyterian Church building has been used. The first service in the new sanctuary was held on Sunday, Jan. 31, 1954. It is also to celebrate the fact that the indebtedness on the building has been reduced from $71,000 to $34,200 in the past five years.

Family reunions have been planned for that day. Many families from out of town plan to attend.

Truck Accident Brings Death to 6 Persons

PENSACOLA, Fla. (AP) — A Navy vehicle tore into a truck loaded with frozen orange juice Wednesday. Six young enlisted men were killed. Three others were injured.

The Navy men were riding in a carryall — similar to a station wagon — which collided with the truck at an intersection about 12 miles west of Pensacola.

State trooper G. L. Hill said the carryall ran a stop sign on a secondary road. The truck driver, Robert Albaugh, 30, Lynnwood, Calif., was not hurt.

The Navy said the nine men were members of a work party which was returning from Barin Field, near Foley, Ala., to their station at Whiting Field, near Pensacola. Barin, recently deactivated, and Whiting are auxiliaries of the Pensacola Naval Air Station.

The driver of the Navy vehicle was killed. He was Richard A. Saah, 20, son of Joseph George Saah, of Silver Spring, Md.

The Navy listed the other dead as William M. Hammond, 19, son of William Hammond, Floral Park, Long Island, N.Y.; Michael C. McMahon, 18, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph J. McMahon, Madison, Wis.; Frederick E. Bates, 18, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Bates, Pasadena, Md.; Darcey C. Porella, 18, son of Lucille Porella, Cambridge, Md.; and Thomas J. ## NLR Couple Electrocuted in Own Yard

NORTH LITTLE ROCK (AP) — A man and his wife were electrocuted when a high tension power line fell on them in the front yard of their home here during a violent thunderstorm early today.

Killed were Mr. and Mrs. Roy Cochran.

Cochran, 50, was the owner of two North Little Rock move trailers. His wife was about 40, neighbors said.

The bodies were lying on the front steps of the Cochran residence. They were found by firemen who were told by an unidentified caller that the house was on fire.

Firemen said the bodies were burning when they arrived but the house was not aflame. There was no one in the residence.

Workers from the North Little Rock Electric Department turned off the electricity in the city-owned power line so the bodies could be removed.

Authorities said they could offer no explanation on how the accident occurred.

Neighbors said the only known survivor is Cochran's daughter, Miss Judy Cochran who lives in Oklahoma.

In 1957 Cochran was named chairman of the Board of directors of the Motion Picture Theater Owners of Arkansas, Tennessee and Mississippi.

Mentally Ill Subject of PTA Meeting

Dr. Dean Andrews, Academic Dean of Southern State College of Magnolia, spoke at the Orlanby P. T. A. on Tuesday night, using as his subject Mental Health.

Dr. Andrews said that the seeds of Mental illness are sown in childhood and are reaped in adulthood, which fact should make all people, parents, teachers and friends, more conscious of the emotional disturbances in our youth today.

It was stressed by Dr. Andrews that one of the most necessary weapons against mental illness is the ability to read, which must be taught in class rooms. Reading is an escape for an emotional disturbed person. If a child cannot read well enough to keep up with his or her classmates, there will soon be a discipline problem or another child will drop out of school.

Dr. Andrews pointed out that whether we are ready for it or not the time is coming soon when the schools will find themselves in a program of grouping according to the different mental abilities, but the immediate need is for remedial work in our elementary schools.

Statistics show that one out of every twelve adults is mentally ill, but when detected early mental illness can be cured.

Refused Vote List to Civil Rights Probers

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP) — U.S. Dist. Judge Frank M. Johnson, Jr., today ordered Circuit Judge George C. Wallace cited for criminal contempt of court for failure to comply with an order to produce voter registration records to the Civil Rights Commission.

Justice Department attorneys were directed by Johnson to institute contempt proceedings as soon as possible.

Johnson's action came after the commission reported it was able to inspect registration records in Barbour and Bullock counties despite what it called "dilatory" tactics used by Wallace in turning the records over to grand jurors in the two counties instead of to the commission.

The federal judge ruled that although the purpose of his order to Wallace to produce the records was carried out when the grand jurors allowed federal agents to look at them, the 39-year-old Alabama judge nevertheless must answer for his defiant action.

Grand juries of Barbour and Bullock counties — which Wallace hurriedly empaneled this week and to which he gave the records — made the files available for inspection. Wallace told the jurors they could do what they wanted with the records.

Commission agents, who said Wednesday night, have finished checking the files for evidence of discrimination against prospective Negro voters in the two rural counties.

Wallace's rebellious action was originally scheduled for hearing Wednesday, but Johnson granted federal attorneys a 24-hour delay.

county proposed a hike in the state beer tax to pay a bonus to veterans of World Wars I and II and the Korean conflict. The bonus would be at the rate of one dollar per day for continental service and two dollars per day for overseas duty.

Broadening of unemployment compensation benefits was suggested in a bill by Rep. Gayle Windsor of Pulaski county. He proposed payments of up to 30 dollars weekly for a maximum of 20 weeks. The present maximum is 25 dollars a week for 18 weeks.

Two Pulaski county representatives—Glenn F. Walther and Mrs. Gordon P. Oates—sponsored a bill to curb operators of motor scooters in Arkansas. It would make an operator's license mandatory and prohibit issuance of such licenses to persons under 18.

Taking the cue given by Faubus in his inaugural address Tuesday, the House approved a resolution calling for a joint committee to study and recommend changes in the 1955 property reassessment law. The governor called for a continuation of the law but minutes after he spoke, a bill calling for its outright repeal was introduced in the House.

Rep. Jack Oakes of Woodruff County, sponsor of the study committee resolution, said one of the objectives of the group would be to remove provisions of the law which work hardships on certain counties. The resolution still must be approved in the Senate before the study committee can be named.

Harvester Strike Near Settlement

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The nation's largest strike, involving 37,000 International Harvester Co. workers, appeared near an end today but a forecast of widespread walkouts in the oil industry darkened the labor picture.

Negotiators for the Harvester Company and the striking United Auto Workers have reached an agreement on a three year contract. The union's Harvester council meets Friday to vote on the terms and ratification appeared likely, ending the costly two-month strike.

The walkout involved the big farm implement firm's 28 factories, transfer points and depots.

On the debit side of the labor news, O. A. Knight, president of the Oil Chemical and Atomic Workers, with a membership of 105,000 in the oil industry, said widespread strikes are likely to develop early next week.

Knight's prediction came as federal mediators in Kansas City reported no progress in contract talks between the Sinclair Oil Co. and the union representing 8,500 of its workers.

Strike notices which expire at midnight Saturday have been filed with Sinclair and most of the 600 individual oil plants with which the union has contracts.

The Sinclair contract is the only one negotiated on a nationwide basis in the oil industry by the union but it usually sets the pattern for other contracts on a plant-by-plant basis. The union has asked for a wage hike of 25 cents an hour or 21 cents an hour plus fringe benefits. Sinclair has not offered a wage increase. The average wage now is 2.71 an hour.

In other labor disputes, the nation's longest strike involves 13,000 employees in seven plants of the Pittsburgh Plate Glass Co. Federal mediators are meeting in Philadelphia with representatives of the company and the United Glass and Ceramic Workers Union in efforts to end the strike, which started last Oct. 6.

Seniority rights and incentive pay are believed to be the major issues in dispute. Wages are not involved.

In Los Angeles, 1,000 supermarkets have been closed since Jan. 1 by a strike-lockout. The strike is by the Retail Clerks Union and the lockout by the Food Employers Council, representing the store operators, in retaliation.

The strike-lockout has idled 10,000 persons and has changed the shopping habits of housewives. They do their marketing at 4,500 grocery stores not affected by the lockout.

The clerks have demanded a wage benefit package totaling $2.50 an hour spread over a five-year contract. The employers offered a 50-cent package offer. The clerks were paid $2.30 hourly under the old contract.

In the Harvester settlement, a company spokesman said the strike cost the union about $2,600,000 in wages. A union spokesman estimated the UAW strike fund has paid about one million dollars weekly in strike benefits.

The new contract calls for annual pay hikes of 6 cents an hour or 2 1/2 per cent, whichever is greater. Wages under the old contract averaged $2.55.

A strike only occasionally uses trees for nesting purposes. But, Europeans have found out that they will almost always make a nest against a cartwheel which is placed standing up.

Three strong supporters of organized labor were assigned as new members of the Labor Committee. They were Sens. Joseph S. Clark Jr. of Pennsylvania, Jennings Randolph of West Virginia and Harrison A. Williams Jr. of New Jersey.

Window Break Mystery Has Woman Jumpy

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

SPRINGFIELD, Mass. (AP)—"I'm so nervous I'm jumping out of my rocking chair at the slightest noise, expecting to hear more glass crash."

That is the reaction of Mrs. Charles Papineau, 80-year-old grandmother, at whose home 38 windows have been broken since a week ago Tuesday.

Police investigated, found no evidence of lawbreaking and withdrew.

John C. Parker, a self-styled authority on poltergeist—noisy ghosts—stepped in.

He said he wanted first to eliminate any possible scientific explanation.

He said he would install a recording thermometer in the bathroom of the 2 1/2 story frame home.

Three windows have been broken in the bathroom. Parker said he wanted to check the possibility that temperature changes might have shattered the windows.

Mrs. Papineau and her 13-year-old grandson, Wayne, have both said they heard strange thumping noises just before windows crashed.

James M. Herrmann of Sanford, N.Y., whose home on Long Island experienced some unexplained bottle-top poppings about a year ago, told the Springfield (Mass.) Union.

"The only thing to do is put your faith in God and try to go on. Don't be frightened that the things that are happening may not be explainable. Try as much as possible to control yourself and accept what is happening. Accept it as something being visited upon you."

Bakers Walk Out at El Dorado

EL DORADO, Ark. (AP)—Thirty-four members of a bakers' union staged a walkout at Colonial Bakery here early today, apparently to protest the recent layoff of two fellow workmen. Picket lines were set up by the strikers, who are members of Local 325 of the American Bakery and Confectionery Workers (AFL-CIO).

The strikers left the bakery about 2 a.m., after the night production had been completed and delivery trucks had been dispatched.

E. G. Murray, business representative for the local, said the company violated contract terms by releasing the two workmen. He said the layoff constituted a "lockout" and that the union had made every effort to avoid a strike.

Murray said arbitration would be considered by the union if the two employees were reinstated under terms of the contract.

Roscoe Walker, sales manager for the bakery, said the contract between the union and the firm was not a strike refusal. He said the company hoped the differences between management and labor could be submitted for arbitration.

DOROTHY DIX

Damsel's Distressed By Doubtful Divorce

Dear Dorothy Dix:

Last year I began dating a very attractive newcomer to our office staff. Outside of the fact that he was always broke, and often borrowed money from me, he was a charming companion. We were having a very cozy friendship when suddenly a wife appeared on the scene. She asked me to stop seeing her husband and told me she was expecting a second child and that these off-the-cuff friendships were an old story. I didn't score prize, was won by Mrs. Rob Jones. Mrs. McCollough won the game prize.

The hostess served a salad plate and coffee.

divorced. This she refused, and again asked me to stop seeing him. I applied for a transfer, got it, and moved some distance away. However in a short time I was recalled to the main office, where Dick worked. We look up where we left off and again his wife came to me and told me to get out of the picture. I think she's trying to get him back through the children. They spent Christmas with her family and he didn't even get a chance to call me. He hasn't mentioned the divorce for several weeks. Should I insist that he get it or wait? My friends say I should force him to divorce his wife. — Candace

Dear Dorothy Dix: Will friends like these you don't need enemies. Your "friends" will let propel you into trouble just for the fun of seeing the fireworks. A man may take advantage of an easy putting party but rarely does he leave his family for the potter. Why not bow out gracefully before Dick's wife makes more trouble for you than you're making yourself.

Does anyone have a cure for borrowing neighbors? This couple borrows tools, household appliances and even food. The only way we can get anything back is to go over and claim our possessions. All the neighbors are in arms over these pests but hate to hurt their feelings. What have other people done under the same circumstances? — Exasperated

Can anyone help this neighborhood? Many readers have the same problem and I know they'd be interested in solutions that have worked. Send in your ideas and I'll print them.

THE STORY: Cleared of a murder charge, Gil Yeager now must reclaim his ranch property, which is in the hands of a powerful combine.

Chapter IV

Gil Yeager moved through the blaze of a newly risen sun. A night of sound sleep, breakfast at the counter of the Ellice, warm under his belt, the good taste of a final cup of coffee lingering on his tongue along with the flavor of the day's first cigarette—all combined to give him a sense of well-being he hadn't known in many months.

Patch Kelly, just opening his door, threw a brief glance, then hurriedly straightened. "Gil Yeager!" He looked anxiously up and down street. "Man—get out of sight!"

Yeager grimaced at him. "No need, Patch. Thanks for the kind thought, though. I'll be around a little later to spend some money with you."

He went on, leaving Patch staring and wondering. At the Golden Horn both doors were latched back and a swamper welded a busy broom about the entrance. Standing in the clear sunlight, watching this activity, was a man in a dark suit, a slim Perfecto burning between his teeth.

No attention was paid Yeager until he was within a yard of passing. Then the cigar smoker's head lifted, showing a face pale and smooth and expressionless. Also a pair of the blackest eyes Yeager had ever seen, in a human. Obsidian black, and just as hard and unyielding. For a long moment the slimy, scrutiny held, and Yeager felt he was being evaluated, catalogued, and also a pair of the blackest eyes slid aside and their owner was once again an entirely neutral and retiring figure.

From the sharp angled shadow of the courthouse steps, Deputy Sheriff Ollie Ladd watched Gil Yeager approach. A formidable figure of a man, the deputy's regard was frankly hating. Meeting the look and knowing the thought behind it, Yeager paused and gave it back, stare for stare. He tipped his head.

"He's in there," Ollie Ladd's grudging answer rolled out thick and surly and guttural.

Yeager looked at him up and down. "Times been known to sweeten some things. Not you though, eh Ollie?"

Ollie's broad and heavy lips lifted at one corner in something not far from a soundless snarl. Beyond that, nothing.

"Suppose we go in," Yeager suggested.

a hard, mocking grin. Yeager rifled through the currency, then gathered up the eddies, one by one. He nodded.

"Four hundred and fifty-five dollars and 80 cents. The exact amount. I'm surprised you remembered so well. I'm also surprised you hadn't spent this months ago."

Hyatt stirred restlessly, his words running more thinly, nasal than ever.

"I said—watch it! You can just stir yourself up another jag of trouble."

Apparently not listening, Yeager wadded the currency into one ragged pocket, and dumped the silver into another. This done, however, he slapped a hard palm on the desk top and leaned across it, and now there was no lightness in his voice at all.

"You're the one to watch it, Hyatt! For you're not looking at the same man you helped push around a year ago. That fellow was an easy-going, trustful sort. Different now, though. He's no longer one of the meek of the earth, no longer a fool sheep, fat for the shearing. Pay you to remember that, Hyatt!"

Straightening, he came around, stepped close to Ollie Ladd and jabbed a stiff forefinger against Ollie's curly chest.

"You too, Ollie. I understand you've been making strong talk of what you intended doing to me, should I ever show in these parts again. That wasn't wise. For here I am and any time I might get the idea of calling you."

Ollie went out.

Ollie Ladd began to curse heavily, but Clint Hyatt flagged him, to silence again with a curt hand.

"No point in that. We just got to take it and like it."

"You talked back" tough to Yeager—just now," Ollie reminded.

"You miss the point, Ollie. Before we look out for anybody else, we look out for ourselves. This office is politics, which makes us politicians. And a smart politician knows when to swing one way, when to swing another. Also, which is even more important, when to hold the middle course until he's sure which way the wind is really going to blow. For the present, at least, that's the course this office is taking. Right down the middle!"

For some little time Ollie Ladd considered this, saw wrinkles fanning from the corners of his eyes.

"Meade Bastian and Duke Royale, maybe they won't like that," Ollie said.

Fashions of Spring—Trim vs. Bare Look

By GAY PAULEY

UPI Women's Editor

NEW YORK (UPI)—It's the trim look versus the bare look in evening fashions for spring.

Designer Call Chapin revives the cover-up fashions from the Gibson girl era for cocktail and dinner clothes. Designer Luis Estevez slashes necklines so low that even his showroom models asked for protective hook and eye fasteners at the front of some dresses. Miss Chapman's Gibson girl group comes in black and white combinations—black, slim or accordion-pleated skirts of crepe either short formal or floor length, worn with white laced linen or chiffon blouses.

The blouses have the high, laced collars and the long, cuffed sleeves typical of those worn by illustrators Charles Dana Gibson's fashionable ladies at the turn of the century.

Miss Chapman is one of the members of the couture group of the New York Dress Institute previewing spring and summer clothes this week for visiting fashion editors.

Withdraws From Show. Estevez, originally scheduled to show with the group, withdrew shortly before the opening for reasons unexplained.

In most collections, the long and narrow evening dress steals the show from the lush, bouffant. Estevez showed stealth-like normals with the skinny look relieved only by an attached short cape at the neck. Famous for making revealing clothes, Estevez this season not only plunged necklines nearly to the waist but also slit the side seams of some long formal up to mid-thigh.

Short evening gowns outnumbered long ones in the Christian Dior collection. The firm's chief designer, Yves St. Laurent, stressed the "rounded line." Its high-waisted silhouette reflected last fall's custom collection in Paris, for which the house traditionally saves its splashy, new-making numbers. The Paris spring collection will be shown the press Jan. 29.

Hemlines on the Dior daytime clothes were 17 to 18 inches from the floor, the same as most New York manufacturers are showing, although St. Laurent went against the Paris trend last fall and hauled skirts as low as 14 and 15 inches.

Explains Hemline Variation. A news release on the New York collection explained the hemline variation this way:

"It must be emphasized that although the general trend of fashion is very definitely to longer lengths, the actual lengths vary to an extent, the proportions of specific dresses and suits and also the wearers."

Skirts of some cocktail clothes were rounded and bell-shaped, reminiscent of the "new look" of 1947 which made the house famous. Waistlines are slightly higher than normal.

Designer Chapman revived one old-time fashion. Designers Jodelle Simpson and John Mora field make the near season seem like old times in other ways.

Mrs. Simpson has brought back the classic redingote and the coat dress. She shows the redingotes or "silbcoovers" in cotton worn over a cotton dress, and in silk over silk. Moore, 31, who makes many of Marilyn Monroe's special occasion dresses, has revived the jumper line, the tunic and the tunic. Waist lines in his collection for "fatback" are raised slightly at the front.

DRESS RIGHT, LIVE RIGHT. TUSCON, Ariz. (P)—Police Chief Bernard Garmire is helping diva groups in a dress right campaign aimed at schools.

Garmire says most girls who have brushes with the law are dressed shabbily—from the youngest juvenile to the oldest criminal. "We find that dirty people often have dirty minds," he added.

Fireman Dies in Apartment Building Fire

PITTSBURGH, Pa. (AP) — A fireman perished and an apartment building was damaged early today in a fire which officials said apparently resulted from an argument between the building's handymen and a woman, police said.

Defendants arrested, Ernest G. Cole, 34, and Miss Ann Owens, 34, were charged with starting the blaze in the building's basement. Both were charged with suspicion of felony.

Defendants said stories given by Cole and Miss Owens indicated they quarreled while drinking in their basement quarters.

Cole was quoted as saying Miss Owens threw a lighted match into a storage bin. Miss Owens said detective Cole had been taking matches around the basement.

Both said they attempted to fight the blaze before flames broke out.

The fire spread quickly through the three-story brick structure near the University of Pittsburgh campus in the Oakland section about three miles from downtown.

Warns Against Naming Goldwater

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. John Sherman Cooper (R-Iowa) said today that Republicans will be having themselves shot by charges they are abusing the name of Sen. Barry Goldwater (R-Ariz.) as their campaign chairman.

Cooper, who was the Republican candidate for Senate in Arizona, said he had been given an "A" accreditation by the state Education Department.

Superintendent W. C. Brashers said the faculty of the private, all-white school was "definitely pleased and proud that our school has received the department's highest accreditation."

Accreditation makes the school eligible for state aid.
